

A photograph of a cobblestone path, likely part of the Camino Portugués. The path is made of dark, irregularly shaped stones with some moss or lichen growing in the crevices. A long, dark shadow of a person walking is cast across the path from the right side. The background shows some green vegetation and a dirt path leading away from the cobblestones.

Leading Change: Through the Lens of the Camino Portuguese

AACSViana do Castelo

-

